so Mr. Hanna declared, the great questions were to get an honest currency and to place the Government upon a basis where it would not have to borrow money. He thinks that changes should be made in the tariff that would provide a sufficient revenue to meet the expenses of the Government, and then added:

By that I do not mean a high protective tariff, but a tariff that will bring the country back to the prosperous conditions of 1892." He talked in a straightforward manner, and said that he did not want the people of the country to think that the seriousness of the money question was underestimated or that the money issue would be cast aside to make room for the tariff. He felt that they went together, side by side, and that an honest currency and tariff that paid the expenses of the Government were alike indispensable. He expected to have the matter thoroughly discussed by the Executive Committee, and he felt that the gravity of the situation was realized and would be met.

M'KINLEY TO THE GLASS-BLOWERS.

Mr. Hanna said that he had seen the criticism that Major McKinley was talking tariff and ignoring the question of honest money. "Indeed," he said, "since I came East I have seen it. By tracing the matter carefully I find that the criticism in question dates mainly to a speech that Major McKinley made to the glass-workers. This was a speech that was intended to reach thirty thousand voters. The spokesman of the delegation that Major McKinley addressed told him previous to his address that the glass-workers did not care what kind of money they had just so long as they had steady work and good wages."
Mr. Hanna then went on to show that, in view of this announcement, Major McKinley could not do otherwise than show the delegation how under a protective tariff they would have a re-turn to good wages and steady employment, and closed his speech by admonishing them of the necessity of having a perfectly stable and honest

"I wish to impress it upon the business men of the East." said Mr. Hanna. "that the Re-publican managers are keenly alive to the great importance of the money question, and they have not lost sight of it for a single moment. But I fair to see how it can be separated from the question of raising revenue. We must place the question of raising revenue. question of raising revenue. We must place the Government upon a paying basis and have an honest currency. All of these questions, however, will be settled by the Executive Committee when it meets, and I will be able to talk to the public more fully, through the newspapers, after that meeting."

THE DUTY TO BE PERFORMED.

Mr. Hanna was asked if he would see Mr. Platt while he was in the city. "I expect," he said, in reply, "to be here about a week, and I may see Mr. Platt. I think that he and I can sit down and talk over the situation without getting into a fight. C. N. Bliss is to call on me at the hotel to-morrow, and I want to see all the Republicans that I can while here. I will say this, however. I will not discriminate between individuals in this campaign, and I am cherishing no resentments such as might have been engendered previous to the Convention. We have the task of electing the Republican tasks of selecting the Republican ticket upon our hands, and we must work to-

Mr. Hanna did net care to enter into an extended review of the situation at the present time, or to talk concerning what States would be the battleground. He said that things would change materially in some of the States before fall, and it was just as well to wait. He said further that both headquarters—in New-York and in Chicago—would be open all the time, and would be of equal importance. He will divide his time between the two headquarters, when he is not at his home in Cleveland. While at home he will have a long-distance telephone in his house, connecting both with Chicago and New-York. Mr. Hanna did not care to enter into an ex-pleasant and approachable to every one that saw him at the hotel yesterday afternoon. He encountered within a few moments after he reached the hotel, ex-Judge Reilly, of Virginia. The Judge is a well-known character around the uptown netels. He introduced himself to Mr. Hanna, saying:

"You ought to know me. I was Consul to Cairo, Eappt, under Grant. I am a Republican. God wouldn't know me when he comes to make up his jewels unless he found me in the Republican ranks. When can I see you for a short time?" Then he leaned over and began to whisper earnestly in Mr. Hanna's ear. Mr. Hanna broke away and turned around. Ex-Governor Alonzo B. Cornell was introduced to him, and he sat down on the sofa for a short chat with the veteran Republican. There were many other callers, including Mrs. Ellen Foster, ex-Congressman John S. Wise, Amasa Thornton, National Committeeman Frederick 8. Gibbs, Silas B. Dutcher, and many others. He finally excused himself from his many visitors in the course of the afternoon to get a muchneeded rest.

Mr. Hanna dined at the Waldorf last evening with Senator Elkins, of West Virginia; General Osborns and Theodors Roosevelt. He was interrupted at dinner many times, as at luncheon, by cards that were sent in to him. One of those who sent in a card was Frederick S. Gibbs. Mr. Hanna saw Mr. Gibbs for a few moments after be had finished diagram. who sent in a card was Frederick S. Gibbs. Mr. Hanna saw Mr. Gibbs for a few moments after he had finished dinner. Afterward Mr. Gibbs said: "I simply called to pay my respects to Mr. Hanna. He asked me to meet him at his hotel to-morrow at 2 o'clock, after the members of the Executive Committee have had their meeting. He has secured headquarters in the building in which I have my office. I have placed my telephones and other appliances at his command until he can get his quarters in shape. I was much pleased with my interview with him. I am satisfied that he is here to meet Republicans of all kinds and to co-operate with every one in electing the National ticket of the party. This is no time for heart-burnings or resentments, and I am sure that we shall all 'get together' and elect our ticket."

Frank S. Witherhee, of Port Henry, was an-other caller. He chatted with Mr. Hanna a few other caller. He chatted with Mr. Hanna a few moments.

After Mr. Witherbee had called, there was a report that Mr. Hanna would announce him as the ninth member of the Executive Committee of the Republican National Committee.

There were many other callers during the evening, and Mr. Henna was kept busy shaking hands. He remained at the hotel until a late hour ands then excused himself. He said before retiring that he would visit the headquarters this forenoon. Then he will meet Garret A. Hobart. Senator Quay. Powell Clayton and other mebers of the commuttee at the hotel, and the conference of the Executive Committee will take place. Mr. Hanna will be here, so he said last night, for a week, and in that time he hoped to have everything in good running order. Then he will go to Chicago to look after some business there, and will not return to New-York for a formight. A matter that will probably be settled at the meeting to-day is the late of the great mass-meeting in New-York Mr. Hanna it is said, may see Mr. Platt to-day, and he will take luncheon with Cornelius N. Bliss at noon. He declined to say anything about Mr. Bliss and the treasurership of the National Committee.

MR. HANNA AT THE FIFTH AVENUE. A conference that was regarded with interest by politicians took place at the Fifth Avenue Hotel at a late hour last evening. It was rumored early in the evening that ex-President Harrison, who, with his wife, is staying at the Fifth Averue Hotel, would meet Mr. Hanna some time during the evening and have a talk with him. Ex-Postmaster-General John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, was the one reported to have arranged this conference. Mr. Wanamaker came over from Philadelphia yesterday and met General Harrison. Both General Harrison and Mr. Wanamaker are members of the committee appointed by the Presbyterian Assembly to make certain investigations. The committee was in session at the hotel last even-while he was waiting for an answer he chatted with Senator Squire, of Washington. Mr. Squire showed Mr. Hanna a number of telegrams, and they talked earnestly about the situation on the Pacific Coast. While they were chatting the bell-boy returned, and Mr. Hanna hurried upstairs. When asked about his visit he said:

Shortly before 11 o'clock Mr. Hanna appeared at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. He walked up to the desk and sent a card to Mr. Wanamaker.

"It is purely a personal visit. Mr. Wanamaker was going to call upon me, but he was detained by business, and I have come down here to see him."

"Shall you see General Harrison?" Mr. Hanna

don't know-perhaps," was the answer, and he hurried off. The conference lasted some time, and when it was over Mr. Hanna reiterated that it was simply a social call, and said he had nothing to say. The impression is that Mr. Hanna called to advise with ex-President Harrison and Mr. Wanamaker concerning the cam-paign and to learn how much the National Committee can rely upon General Harrison for GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS. TO-DAY'S MEETING OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMIT-THE OF THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

The coming of Mr. Hanna to the city added interest to the National campaign in the East, and several more men who will be prominent figures in the coming struggle are expected to-day. Garret A. Hobart, the Republican nominee for Vice-President, telegraphed Mr. Hanna, from Lake Champlain, that he would be here to-day. Senator Matthew S. Quay, of Pennsylvania, who is to have practical charge of the Eastern headquarters, sent word in the afternoon that he would be here in time to attend the meeting of the Executive Committee to-

Powell Clayton will be here this morning, so a telegram announces. Other members expected are Charles L. Kurtz, of Ohio; Samuel Fessenden. of Connecticut, and Redfield Proctor, of Vermont. Mr. Kurtz is expected to come to the city with Senator-elect Joseph B. Foraker, of Ohio. Mr. Foraker will meet Mr. Hanna and consult with him about the campaign previous to sailing for Europe. Mr. Foraker, who placed McKinley in nomination at St. Louis, is down on the lists to do a great deal of the heavy work in the speaking campaign. Already a trip through the West and to the Pacific Coast has been planned for him.

General Osborne, who will be one of the workers in the Eastern headquarters, was in an optimistic mood yesterday, and while Mr. Hanna was busy receiving visitors, he gave his ideas about the cor ing campaign. He seems to favor a third ticket. "No one can estimate what the effect of a third ticket would be," he remarked to a number of friends, "but I know that there is a lively hope upon the part of some of the Republicans in some of the Western States that a third ticket will be placed in the field. It is their opinion that such a ticket would greatly strengthen the chances of Mc-Kinley, as many Democrats would vote for such a ticket who would otherwise vote for Bryan. There are many Democrats who will vote for McKinley, but an alternative ought to be allowed for those who cannot vote the Republican ticket."

Ex-Governor Person C. Cheney, of New-Hampshire, was also in the city yesterday and called upon Mr. Hanna. The ex-Governor is a member of the National Committee, and will attend the meet ing to-day. "I think we have an excellent chance," he said, "and there is no reason why we should feel uneasy. Common-sense is bound to prevail in the end, and I do not think that the people will stand by free silver and repudiation. Instead of the freesilver men making inroads upon us, I believe that we shall steal some of their strongholds from them. I believe that we will carry Delaware, Maryland West Virginia and perhaps Kentucky. We have a chance to win in Nebraska and a fighting chance for Missouri. As for the middle Western States, I do not believe that the free-colnage men will get a single one of them. I have received word from all through that country, and it is most encouraging all around."

through that country, and all around."

Ex-Senator Warner Miller was in the Fifth Avenue Hotel during the afternoon, but he did not call upon Mr. Hanna. He said that he expected to see the National chairman, however, within a short time. The ex-Senator was smiling, and said that teverything was all right up the State, and that everything was all right up the State, and that McKinley would get an unprecedented majority. Charles W. Huckett, chairman of the Republican State Committee, sat in his room at the Fifth Avenue Hotel during the afternoon. "No," he said, "I have not seen Mr. Hanna, but I expect to soon We have not seen Mr. Hanna, but I expect to soon We have not seen Mr. Hanna, but I expect to soon. nue Hotel during the afternoon. No. has said have not seen Mr. Hanna, but I expect to soon. We are attending to business down here, wore work has been done from this headquarters than from any other State headquarters in the country. We have everything in excellent condition. The old machine that so many people talk about is greased and in running order. It is at Mr. Hanna's disposal. We shall turn it over to him whenever he is ready, and give an affidavit or guarantee that McKinley will roll up the greatest majority in this State this fall that has ever been given to a Republican candidate."

Frank S. Witherbee, of Port Henry, remarked: "There is a hue and cry that the whole upper part of the State is affame with free-coinage sentiment. There may be free-coinage sentiment up the State, as no section seems to be absolutely free from the taint, but there is little of it in New-York State. We are getting in line or oll up a tremendous majority for McKinley, and by the time this free-coinage sentiment is properly treated there will not be enough of it to stock a State campaign, even in the far West."

Theodore Roosevelt, who dined with Mr. Hanna at the Waldorf Hotel last evening, also expressed great hope that the Republicans would win this year.

Senator Watson C. Squire, of Washington, called great hope that the Republicans would will the year.

Senator Watson C. Squire, of Washington, called at the Waldorf to see Mr. Hanna last night. He believes to a certain extent in free coinage, but he also believes to a greater extent in the Republican party. He assured some politicians with whom he talked that it was going to be a hard, stubborn fight, but that he hoped to see the State of Washington declare for McKinley. He will go West before long and take up the cudgels in the interest of the Republican nominees.

CALIFORNIANS WANT GOLD PAYMENTS. WORDING OF THE CONTRACTS OF THE ALASKA PACKERS ASSOCIATION.

The Alaska Packers' Association, which is an smalgamated association of packers of Alaska salmon, with headquarters in San Francisco, has made its prices for the packing of new catch fish, as also its selling contracts with the buyers, who act as its destributers. These distributers in the last its day. distributers. These distributers in the last ten days in their turn have made sales through their Eastern agents to the wholesale grocery trade of the East for its wants for future delivery. Contracts for these engagements have just been received from the West, but buyers here have refused to confirm the purchases made. This action by a class of honorpurchases made. This action by a class of honorable merchants appears superficially to be strange. The cause is a stipulation, inserted in the contracts, demanding reimbursement to the sellers of the West by the buyers of the East "in United States gold coin, payable in San Francisco, Cal." The buyers refuse to confirm and sign the contracts with this stipulation, not because they are not believers in gold, but should by any chance gold go to a premium, owing to the silver movement, they do not propose to make the West a bonus of 46½ cents on the dollar.

Williams, Brown & Co., of San Francisco, with the J. K. Armsby Company, of Chicago, take the whole supply of cannel salmon from the Alaska Packlers' Association. The representatives of Williams, Brown & Co., in this city, are U. H. Dudley & Co., of No. 15 Duane-st., and Delafield, McGovern & Co., of No. 5 Hudson-st. The agent of the Armsby Company here is John M. Chapman & Co., of No. 161 Duane-st. The agent of the Armsby Company here is John M. Chapman & Co., of No. 162 Duane-st. The state of the Armsby Company here is John M. Chapman & Co., of No. 163 Hudson-st.

by Company here is John M. Chapman & Co., of No. 165 Hudson-st.

An interesting point in this matter is that while the California house, in the free-silver district, has attempted to enforce the gold clause, the Chicago company, where the gold interest is strong, has made no endeavor of the kind.

Mr. Dudley said yesterday: "We bought a lot of salmon this month for September delivery from Williams, Brown & Co., and not a word was said about any gold clause. When the formal gold contract came on, it contained that clause. As soon as we saw it, we wrote that we would not pay in gold, and we do not propose to. If Williams, Brown & Co. wanted gold, they should have said so at first. In their letter of explanation they say that the clause was not necessary last year, but is so now, on contracts for future delivery, in view of the sliver agitation. I don't think there is any necessity for it myself."

tation. I don't think there is any necessity for it myself."

J. W. Chapman, of J. W. Chapman & Co., stated that the Arms' y Company had required no rold clause, and added: "It is interesting to observe that the California house, in a free-silver region, calls for gold on the plea that they must pay out gold, while the Chicago firm, in a gold centre, sees no need of such a clause."

gold on the plant the chicago firm, in a gold centre, sees no need of such a clause."

Thomas L. Marsalis, president of the American Grocery Company, said he had made he contracts yet for canned goods, and added: "These men out there in the sliver country want gold in contracts. Senator Mitchell talks silver and demands gold clauses in mortgages, and so does Altgeld. The whole combine is operating for a purpose."

California, according to Mr. Lemmon, one of its delegates to the Republican National Convention at St. Louis, and by the vote of its Democratic delegates at Chicago, is a silver State, and it is certainly encouraging for the Nation's integrity and prosperity to see, as one of the grocers said, "Chickens coming home to roost's osoon, by the demands of a sliver State for gold payments, in return for one of the largest commodities it handles. The action of the Eastern buyers should give food for thought to Populists and Silverites, who should remember that 'coming events cast their shadows before." General William Tecumseh Sherman told in his 'Memoirs" an interesting anecdote of his famous march from Atlanta to the sea. Before his army reached Savannah a report was brought to him that torpedoes in the road over which the Union proops were obliged to pass. The General thereupon taken while on his way through Georgia and directed the advance guard to march the "Johnny Rebs" ahead of the army, intending that they should be the fellows to stir up the torpedoes in the road if any existed. The meeting of the State Committee, which was scheduled for noon at the Hoffman House, did not begin for a full hour after the time set. The leaders were gathered in Chairman Hinkley's room, No. 164, on the third floor, laboring for "harmony. and, judged from the long period they spent and the way the perspiration wilted their linen, it was no holiday job. They were united in their efforts to prevent a struggle either to repudiate or approve the Chicago ticket. The two representatives of the Shepard Democracy of Kings County, A. Augustus Healey and Stepher. P. Sturges, were bent on introducing resolutions boiting the Bryan and Sewall outfit, ticket, platform and all, while Congressman Sulzer, County Clerk Purrcy and other rampant silver shouters of this city wanted to declare for the Chicago ticket.

ruin the elaborate plan of Mr. Hill, with which he Whitney have been sitting up nights of Mr. Hill's mind is absorbed by the State canvass. He wants the third-ticket men to unite with him on a Democratic State ticket for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and Judge of the Court of Appeals. In other words he desires that the "Ship of State" Democracy shall indorse the State cket that his convention will put in the field, they will do this he agrees on his part not to approve the free silver, Anarchist, Populist plat-form adopted at Chicago. It was hinted yesterday Hill would go further than this if he could, and indorse the third ticket and the gold platform. But he wants to make sure of what he calls "Democratic union" on his State ticket

Ing the date. A rollcall followed, and all. Deferest reported that thirty-four members favored Buffalo, and sixteen Syracuse. Chairman Hinkley decided that Mr. Cuncen's resolution had been adopted, and that the convention would meet in Buffalo on September 16.

Up to a late hour the night previous, it was understood that Mr. Hill and his associates had decided upon Saratoga. Chairman Hinkley had decided upon Saratoga. Chairman Hinkley had decided upon Saratoga. Expertiting apparently was settled. On the arrival of the Buffalo contingent, however, the errangement for Saratoga was ripped up. The Buffalonians and their friends from the other end of the State deciared that they had received promises a year ago, when Syracuse was designated, that Buffalo should be the next place of meeting. The Sheehan brothers jumped into the canvass on the Buffalo side, and Senator Hill finally admitted that he recalled that some such arrangement as the Buffalo people alleged had been made last year. It was agreed to skip Saratoga and give the convention to Buffalo.

SENATOR HILL GOES TO ALEANY. Senator Hill returned to Albany at 4:30 p. m. yesterday. His lieutenants effusively congratulated him on the satisfactory wind-up of the meeting, and Mr. adjourned without a clash between the warring elements. The bitter feeling which exists on the part of the Bryan free silverites toward the Democrats who refuse to support the platform of repudiation may be inferred from a remark made by Clerk Purroy before yesterday's meeting. ousiness of the State Committee to-day, and its sole business, is to issue the call for the State Convenbusiness. If, however, an attempt is made to furnish excuses for Governor Flower, Perry Belmont or any of the sulky plutocrats who have boilted the ticket we will give them all the fight they want.

Senator Hill had a conference with Mr. Belmont Senator HEI had a conference with Mr. Beimont before going back to Albany. Mr. Beimont had prepared a resolution somewhat similar to the Shepard resolutions, which Messrs. Healey and Sturgis, of Brooklyn, had in their pockets, condemning the fresilver platform and repudiating the Bryan and Sewall ticket. Although Mr. Belmont was prevailed upon not to offer it, he has not abandoned the battle for honest money. He will be at the State Convention at Buffalo, and will take the ground that the Convention cannot consistently depart from the sound-money declaration of the Democratic Convent.

the for honest money. He will be at the State Convention at Buffa.o, and will take the ground that the Convention cannot consistently depart from the sound-money declaration of the Democratic Convention that met at Saratoga in June. He will also oppose any recognition of the Bryan and Sewill ticket on the ground that the Convention at Chicago, being dominated by men like Altgeld and Tillman, was not a Democratic Convention.

Candidates for the Democratic menination for Governor were not numerous yesterday. John B. Stanchfield, of Elmira, was looked upon as about the only man whose name has been mentioned who is reality an aspirant for the place. Parry Belmont long ago realized that this was a bad year for a Democratic State ticket in New-York and told his friends that he was not in the race. Senator Jacob A. Cantor refuses to be considered a candidate unless the Convention repudlates Bryan and the free-sliver humbur. There was some talk verterday of Mayor John Boyd Thacher, of Albany, but it was not believed that he had any inclination to sacrifice himself this year on the altar of party devotion.

TO TELL BRYAN AND SEWALL ABOUT IT. NOTIFICATION OF THEIR NOMINATION TO BE

August 12, 1896, William Jennings Bryan will appear at the Madison Square Garden in the farce enitled "The Silver Candidate." In this he will be ompany, consisting of the Notification Committee of the Democratic party, made up of two delegates from each State. William P. St. John, ex-president of the Mercantile National Bank, and at present treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, and also of the Sliver Committee, will act as stage m mager and master of ceremonies. There is now little doubt that the preliminary arrangements will be satisfactorily arranged, as the managers of the Garden say they will let it to this company on the same terms as to any other. The rent will be $1,500 for a one-night stand, and a bond not to exceed $3,000 will be-required to insure the Garden against damage. These conditions Mr. St. John says he is willing and able to meet.

Admission to the performance will be by ticket only, but no fee will be charged for fear an audience might not appear, although it has been suggested in some quarters that an admission fee of a gested in some quarters that an admission fee of a sliver dollar should be charged. This report the reporter was unable to get verified.

It is not known who will assume the responsibility of presiding over this company and gathering. One of the sliverites will tell Mr. Bryan that he has been nominated to the office of President. Mr. Bryan will then reply in a speech, which he hopes will be the greatest effort of his life. After the appause has subsided, another delegate will inform Mr. Sewali, who will also make reply.

It is evident that a large number of first-nighters are expected as the Garden will seat about 5,00, and furnishes standing-room for nearly 10,00 more. For fear that there may not be so many silverites in this benighted city, the Seaboard Air Line proposes to run accommodation trains to supply the deficiency.

Mr. Bryan's next Eastern stand will probably be Baltimore, where some merchants have invited Mr. Sewali and himself to repeat their performance, and there the committee of the St. Louis Sliver Convention will inform them of their nomination by that Convention.

A "GEORGE FRED" CLUB FORMED. Boston, July 28.-An adjourned meeting of a committee chosen recently to organize a club in the interest of the candidacy of Bryan, Sewall and George Fred Williams was held this afternoon at Mr. Williams's office. A constitution and bylaws were adopted and it was voted to call the organization the "Bryan-Sewail-Williams Club of Massachusetts." H. D. Shaefer was elected president. J. A. The Executive Committee of the Young Men's Democratic Club of Massachusetts at a meeting this afternoon came out flat-footed against the Chicago ticket and platform. At a recent meeting the same committee adopted a resolution reaffirming the declaration of principles of the club of March, 1896, and the platform of the Democratic party of the Commonwealth of April 21, 1896. At this meeting there were present only nine of the eighteen members of the Executive Committee, and after the news of their action had been circulated among the members of the club, there was a difference of opinion about it. As a result Ernest C. Marshall, of Charlestown, Issued a circular to his associates of the club asking, in substance, whether they favored the Chicago ticket or intended to bolt the ticket. Now the Executive Committee has come together again and adopted resolutions passed at the first meeting. There were ten members present at to-outy's meeting.

Washington, July 28. Senator Stewart, of Nevada ver and Popullat conventions in St. Louis, returned to the city this morning. A United Press reporte asked him what importance he attached to the published report to-day that Charman Jones, of the Democratic National Committee, and Governor Stone, of Missouri, were considering the advisa-bility of withdrawing Bryan's name from the Populist ticket. In making his reply, Senator Stewart drew freely upon his picturesque, forcible and wellstocked vocabulary of English. He said: "None whatever. Neither Chairman Jones nor Bryan nor any other individual can prevent the Populists from using Bryan's name and voting for him. The people have some rights, as well as the candidates. The vast majority of the Populists are friends of Bryan and will do everything in their power to sehim for acceptance or reject on to give the enemy an opportunity to divide the friends of financial re-Bryan's record is all the platform any true financial reformer can possibly desire." Will any communication be made by the Populist leaders of the Convention to Mr. Bryan?

"I see no propriety in communicating to Mr. Bryan what occurred at St. Louis at the Populist Convention, or calling upon him to discuss Populist platform. Any proceedings of that kind could have but one object, namely, to embarrass and defeat him. The Populists who voted for him in convention don't want to defeat him. It is their desire to elect him."

in convention don't want to defeat him. It is their desire to elect him."

"You have no doubt, then," he was asked, "that the Populists will cheerfully co-operate with the Democrats for this purpose."

"The Populists," replied Senator Stewart, significantly, "will join with the Jeffersonian Democracy of Chicago, which eliminated the spurious, modern John Sherman, goldbug, swindling Democrats from their ranks. There is no difference between the 620 American citizens of the Jeffersonian strips who nominated Bryan at Chicago and she 1,630 other natifotic citizens who did the same thing at St. Louis. They have united their forces against the combination of monarchists, aristocrats, monopolists, despots, property-wreckers, swindlers, gold gamblers and enemies of civilization, with headquarters on the other side of the Atlantic, and doing an active business in that section of this country known as Wall Street. There is no use of Hanna spending any more time in manufacturing new middle-of-the-road enthusiasts out of gold-hugs to repudiate Bryan, The money already expended on such patriots as Henry L. Call, of New-York, and others who are attempting to create a new silver party out of goldbug material manufactured to order by the Hanna combination will be wested."

VERMONT "POPS" IN CONVENTION. A STATE TICKET NOMINATED AND HOLDERS OF RICHES DENOUNCED.

Montpeller, Vt., July 28.-The Populist State Convention was held at Capitol Hall to-day, about twenty-five delegates being present. The convention was called to order by A L. Bowen, of Dorset, the chairman of the State Committee, who was selected as permanent chairman. Mr. Bowen made a short address, denouncing people who possessed riches and mentioning Dr. W. Seward Webb as the exponent of wealth in Vermont. The platform adopted calls for flat money and free silver and contains the following plank:

contains the following plank:

The resort to bribery as an instrumentality for carrying elections and for securing legislation or court decisions being a direct thrust at the very life of free government and no less an act of treason than firing on our country's flag, we, therefore, demand an act of Congress making it, in law as it is in fact, a capital crime for both the receiver and giver of bribes in any form and punishable as such.

Dr. W. S. Curtis, of West Kandolph; Miles D.

Baker, of Burlington; N. C. Wilder, of Waitsfield, and George S. McAllister, of Stowe, were nominated as Presidential electors. The nominations for State officers were as follows: For Governor, Joseph Battelli, of Middlebury; for Lieutenant-Governor, William Dexter, of Sheffield; for Secretary of State, A. T. Way, of Burlington; for Auditor, C. F. Cluff, of Waterbury; for Treasurer, Daniel Sallies, of Montpelier.

In the 11d District T. J. Aldrich, of Wheelock, was nominated for Congress, and in the 1st District A. L. Bowen was nominated.

SOUND MONEY CALL IN MAINE. A SUMMONS TO GOLD DEMOCRATS IN ARTHUR SEWALL'S STATE. Rockland, Me., July 28 .- C. Vey Holman, of this city, one of the delegates to the National Demo-eratic Convention at Chicago and a gold-standard man, has sent the following communication to the eratic Convention at Chicago and a gold-standard man, has sent the following communication to the leading Democrats of the State:

All Democrats of the State of Maine who recognize the fact that the recent so-called National Convention at Chicago was dominated in its organization and conduct by a spirit of injustice, dishonesty and absolute disregard for the most elementary sules of orderly procedure; who deprecate and condemn the surrender of the majority of that body to Populiat theories entirely alien to the creed of true Democracy; who decline to accept the declaration of alleged principles put forth in the guise of a Democratic platform as in any measure embodying the articles of Democratic faith, but rather as subversive and revolutionary of all that this Nation has been taught to admire and reverse as Democratic doctrine; who refuse to participate even passively in the political criminality which unjustifiably and without warrant unseated legally and properly qualified delegates in order to reverse the just control of certain State delegations, and thus defeat the will of the Democratic electors of those States duly expressed in their local cancuses and conventions; who believe that it is consistent with the fundamental principles of Democracy to advocate and secure the highest possible standard of value and the fullest possible measure of soundness in the administration of our monetary system, and who believe that the simple dignity of Maine's terse civil motto "Dirigo" ("I lead") should never be prostituted to the direction of an unworthy cause or the propagation of an unsound principle, are requested at once to communicate to the undersigned their views upon the advisability of immediately calling a conference in this State to consider what action shall be taken under the call issued by the Chicago sound-most.

THE ANTI-MACHINE CANDIDATES CARRY FIVE OF THE NINE WARDS OF KINGSTON. Kingston, N. Y., July 28 (Special).-The most ex-

place to-night in each of the nine wards. A larger vote was polled than ever before at caucuses. They were held for the purpose of electing delegates to were held for the purpose of electing designates to the list Assembly District Convention, at which delegates will be whosen to the State Convention. There was a fight in every ward, the Platt organization being opposed by anti-Platt candidates put in the field by Deputy Attorney-General Hasbrouck, of this city. Every influence on each side was brought to hear and Mr. Hasbrouck successfully elected his delegates in five of the nine wards. The indications are that his delegates will be in the majority in the two districts of the county.

BRYAN WILLING TO BE "GUIDED." THE CANDIDATE SHOWS NO HASTE TO CHOOSE

Lincoln, Neb., July 28. Senator Pettigrew, South Dakota, one of the bolting sliver Republicans to-day. He spent some hours with the nominee taking over the political situation. Mr. Bryan is and silent as to his intention with regard to the Populist nomnation. Opinions here differ as to what he will do, but the general understanding is that no decision will be reached until after Senator Jones, of Arkansas, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has consulted with the Populist leaders as to the best course to pursus. While in Chicago Mr. Bryan expressed to the Democratic National Committeemen his desire to be guidled by their ad-Committeemen his desire to be guided by their ad vice, and, while he has his own opinions, he appear willing to allow his political advisors to arrange the Mr. Bryan spent a short time at Democratic head-quarters this afternoon, but did nothing beyond shaking hands with a number of people there.

NOTES OF THE CANVASS.

The citizens of Maiden Lane for nearly a week have had a daily reminder of Republican principles and the political issues at stake this year hanging over their heads in the shape of an interesting banner, which has already seen service in a previous campaign. It stretches across the street from the Seabury Building, at No. 50 Malden Lane, and owes its existence to George J. Seabury, of Seabury & Johnson. The banner was made for Mr. Seabury in 1892 by the New-York Advertising Sign Company, of No. 16 Park Place. At that time the Republican headquarters of the drug, chemical, oil and paint trades were in the Seabury Building, as a motto on the banner signifies. The headquarters will be there this year as formerly, and it is proposed to open a series of campaiga meetings in the building before long. The old meetings in the building before long. The old banner has, accordingly, been retouched by its makers, the names of McKinley and Hobert substituted for those of the nominees of 1852 and two new mottoes added. These are: "A souvenir of 1892," which runs aeross the top of the hanner, and "Made in the United States," which is supposed to be a bit at the men who like to foster foreign industries. The banner measures 20x3 feet, among the other mottoes on it are "For home and country," "Protection," "Honest money," "High wages," "A fine Navy," "American ships," "Honest elections" and "Rectprocity."

The loyal Republican Club of the XXVIIIth Assembly District met on Monday night at their headquarters, at Seventy-ninth-st, and Third-ave., and adopted resolutions recommending Hiland Flowers "to all true Republicans" of the East Side of the XIVth Congress District as nominee for Congress. The officers of the club are Timothy O'Toole, president; John McNally, vice-president; J. J. O'Brien, secretary, and Frank Lennon, treas-

Mount Olivet Baptist (Colored) Church in Fifty third-st., near Seventh-ave., was well filled last evening with colored men and women, who had gathered to indorse the nomination of McKinley and Hobart and the Republican platform. Jacob D. Simms called the meeting to order and intro-duced as the first speaker of the evening the Rev. duced as the first speaker of the evening the Rev. Emert Lyons. The speaker said that the Republicas party was naturally the party for the colored voter to cast his lot with, and especially at this time when the Democrats proposed to pay debts in a depreciated currency. The other speakers were Professor R. T. Greener, J. D. Carr. A. W. Cowan, the Rev. D. W. Wisher and C. F. Buller. Resolutions were adopted indorsing the Republican platform in its declarations for protection, sound money and an honest ballot, also indorsing McKinley and Hobart as the representatives of the best type of American manhood. Resolutions were also adopted to the effect that the colored race had not been properly treated in the administration of both State and city affairs. A meeting will be held to-marrow evening at Union Investment Hail, No. 18 West Fifty-third-st., to urge that no discrimination be made against the negro.

STOPPED HIS SON'S WEDDING.

MR. DARBOUR'S ACTION EXCITES A WHOLE COUNTY IN VIRGINIA.

Fredericksburg, Va., July 28 .- At the marriage of Fredericksburg, Va., July 28—At the marriage of Miss Emma Anderson and Welliam Barbour, is Stafford County vesterday, the bridegroom's father created a sensation by rising in the middle of the coremony and forbidding the marriage because his son was already married. He read several letters from his son's wife, and the minister refused to go on with the marriage. All the people are of high social standing, and the excitement in the county runs black.

PARDON FOR HENRY BIER RECOMMENDED. New-Orleans, July 28.-The Board of Pardons decided at its meeting to-day to recommend to the Governor the pardon of Henry Bler, the well-known broker, who was convicted of perjury, but not sen-tenced, in connection with the sale of the street railway franchise. Bier's case has attracted wide-spread attention, not only on account of his wealth and business standing, but because of the extraor-dinary corruption exposed in connection with his purchase for others of the street railway.
